MCDecaux, Exclusive Media Partner of the French Pavilion for the Osaka World Expo 2025

Malik ROUMANE, President of MCDecaux and
Jacques MAIRE, President of COFREX

MCDecaux, the Japanese subsidiary of JCDecaux, the number one outdoor advertising company worldwide, (JCDecaux: 85%; Mitsubishi Corporation: 15%) has announced its official partnership with the French Exhibition Company (COFREX) responsible for the French Pavilion at the Osaka World Expo 2025. As the exclusive media partner, MCDecaux will play a crucial role in promoting France during this significant global event. The Presidents of both organizations met at the VivaTech technology conference in May to discuss this strategic collaboration at JCDecaux's booth.

As part of this partnership, MCDecaux will provide nationwide street furniture advertising to highlight campaigns promoting the projects, missions, and values of the French Pavilion to the Japanese audience. On the other hand, JCDecaux, through its Japanese subsidiary, will have the opportunity to inform and discuss about the innovative nature of the company and media assets worldwide, and thus contribute to the promotion of French companies on the international stage.

The theme of the Osaka World Expo 2025, "Designing Future Society for Our Lives", resonates with JCDecaux's aspirations to participate in the construction of cities of the future. JCDecaux's street furniture, service-driven, connected and constantly evolving, aims to blend seamlessly with the environment and to sustainably improve the quality of life in cities, for all citizens in terms of proximity and mobility.

« We are delighted to enter into this partnership with COFREX and to promote French know-how and expertise on our advertising street furniture throughout Japan. The Osaka World Expo will be a key event in 2025, charting the way for the world of tomorrow, more sustainable and inclusive. »

Malik Roumane, President of MCDcaux

« Benefiting from MCDcaux's extensive coverage is a real asset for promoting the France Pavilion to the Japanese public. Thanks to this partnership, which has united us since the Dubai World Expo, we'll be able to communicate on a program that showcases our country's highly diverse know-how, both before and during the 6 months of the Expo. »

Jacques Maire, General Commissioner of the France Pavilion & COFREX President

About the France Pavilion at the Osaka World Expo 2025 :

The Osaka World Expo 2025 (Japan) will be held from April 13th to October 13th, 2025 under the theme "Designing the future, imagining tomorrow's life", with three sub-themes: "Saving lives", "Inspiring lives", "Connecting lives". The event will take place on Yumeshima Island, a 155-hectare artificial island in Osaka Bay, designed by architect Sosuke Fujimoto. All the pavilions will be connected by a "roof ring" measuring 615 m in diameter and 2 km in circumference, and divided into three macro-zones: Green world, Pavillon world and Water world. Over 160 countries will be represented, and 28 million visitors are expected to attend the event. The France Pavilion, whose ambition is to showcase French innovation and know-how, will be located in the "Empowering lives" section, close to the Japan Pavilion and the main entrance of the World Expo.
